FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

P&R Dental Strategies Granted Full URAC Reaccreditation

The reaccreditation reaffirms that P&R Dental Strategies is a trusted leader in utilization review and consistently meets the very highest standards in health utilization management.

HAMILTON, NJ, Jan 8, 2019 -- P&R Dental Strategies, LLC, the premier dental insights company delivering customized, actionable business intelligence to a variety of dental stakeholders, today announced that it has been granted full URAC reaccreditation for its Health Utilization Management program with a perfect score of 100%. P&R Dental Strategies' utilization management procedures have been accredited by URAC since 2010, and the recent reaccreditation extends URAC accreditation through 2022.

URAC's Health Utilization Management accreditation ensures that all organizations conducting utilization review follow a clinically sound process and respect patients' and providers' rights while giving payers reasonable guidelines to follow. Accreditation ensures the adequacy of health utilization management programs through evaluation against broadly recognized standards and measures. The URAC Accreditation Committee reviewed P&R Dental Strategies' procedures and granted full accreditation pursuant to its Health Utilization Management, Version 7.3 standards, with URAC President and CEO Kylanne Green commenting: "Appropriateness and efficiency are words to live by in meeting new value-based goals for population health. P&R Dental Strategies' URAC accreditation shows an ability to abide by the gold standard when it comes to performing Health Utilization Management functions. URAC's utilization management accreditation standards promote an evidence-based and reasonable review of services that respect both patients and providers."

Paul T. Sheils, CEO of P&R Dental Strategies, commented "This important reaccreditation from URAC demonstrates our company-wide commitment to quality. Continued recognition from URAC shows that, year after year, our operations are clinically sound, secure and HIPAA compliant and that our technology platform is truly cutting edge."

Mr. Sheils added, "At P&R we are committed to following best practices, meeting the highest of standards and dedicated to remaining the "gold standard" in the outsourced professional claim review industry. Meeting the strict standards of one of the most highly regarded third-party accreditation firms like URAC, proves to our clients that P&R Dental Strategies is a highly trusted partner in utilization review and healthcare services."
